DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-7 are objected to because of the following informalities: claim 1 the language, e.g., "control unit can compress" is not positively recited and should be amended, e.g.,--to compress--; and "namely not rotate" may be deleted. Appropriate correction is required.
2. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 3-7 have been renumbered 2-6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by anyone of Campbell (870,014), Chadwick (1,169,007) or Schmitt et al. (2,487,987).

Anyone of Campbell, Chadwick or Schmitt et al. discloses all of the limitations of claim 1, i.e., a spanner body having a receiving chamber, with at least one control groove, a toothless ratchet, at least one control device formed by a control unit and an elastomer.

Art Unit: 3723

5. Claims 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Baron (5,417,129).

Baron discloses all of the limitations of claim 1, i.e., a spanner body having a receiving chamber, with two control groove (defined in the cavity accommodating the two members 50), a toothless ratchet (20), two control device formed by a control unit (50) and an elastomer (52).

Wherein the control unit is a rectangular or a polygonal cylinder (Fig. 2) having a chamfered surface (Fig. 5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Baron.

Baron meets all the limitations of claim 5, except for the control unit to have a hexagonal shape. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the wedge hexagonal, since applicant has not disclosed that hexagonal shape solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with a rectangular cylinder as disclosed and, since changing shape, involves only routine skill in the art.

8. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anyone of Campbell, Chadwick or Schmitt et al. in view of Alexander (3,577,816).

Art Unit: 3723

Prior art (Campbell, Chadwick or Schmitt et al.) meets all the limitations of claim 2, except for tow control device. Alexander teaches using two control unit locking a ratchet.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to modify the invention of the prior art with two control devices as taught by Alexander to enhance the locking function.

Conclusion

9. Prior art made of record and not relied upon are considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ansorge is cited to show related inventions.
